MEMORANDUM AND ORDER

This complaint of judicial misconduct was filed by [redacted] ("complainant") against [redacted] ("subject judge"), under 28 U.S.C. § 351.

After conducting an initial review, the chief judge may dismiss a complaint of judicial misconduct as to which he concludes: (A) that the claimed conduct, even if it occurred, "is not prejudicial to the effective and expeditious administration of the business of the courts"; (B) that the complaint "is directly related to the merits of a decision or procedural ruling"; (C) that the complaint is "frivolous," a term that applies to charges that are wholly unsupported; or (D) that the complaint "lack[s] sufficient evidence to raise an inference that misconduct has occurred." Rules 11(c)(1)(A)–(D), Rules for Judicial-Conduct and Judicial-Disability Proceedings ("Judicial-Conduct Rules"); see 28 U.S.C. § 352(a), (b).

The subject judge presided over the complainant's underlying civil case. After entering a judgment of dismissal, the subject judge recused and another judge handled most post-judgment filings. The second judge eventually prohibited the complainant from filing anything in the case.

Though difficult to follow, this misconduct complainant seemingly challenges developments from the underlying case. It alleges that the docket entry dates are fraudulent and that the complainant never received discovery. It also challenges the filing restrictions imposed on the complainant.

To the extent the complainant challenges the judicial decisions made in the underlying case, it warrants dismissal. The judicial-complaint process may not be used to challenge the merits of judicial decisions made in underlying proceedings; such decisions are not the proper subject of a complaint of judicial misconduct. See Judicial-Conduct Rule 4(b)(1). The Judicial Council is not a court and has no jurisdiction to review the subject judge's rulings or to grant relief requested in the underlying case. See In re Complaint of Judicial Misconduct, 858 F.2d 331 (6th Cir. 1988). Because these allegations call into question the correctness of the subject judge's rulings, they are dismissed as merits-related. See 28 U.S.C. § 352(b)(1)(A)(ii); Judicial-Conduct Rule 11(c)(1)(B).

Accordingly, it is ORDERED that the complaint be dismissed under 28 U.S.C. § 352(b)(1)(A)(ii) and Judicial-Conduct Rule 11(c)(1)(B).

Chief Judge
