MEMORANDUM AND ORDER

This complaint of judicial misconduct was filed by [redacted] ("complainant") against [redacted] ("subject judge"), under 28 U.S.C. § 351.

After conducting an initial review, the chief judge may dismiss a complaint of judicial misconduct as to which he concludes: (A) that the claimed conduct, even if it occurred, "is not prejudicial to the effective and expeditious administration of the business of the courts"; (B) that the complaint "is directly related to the merits of a decision or procedural ruling"; (C) that the complaint is "frivolous," a term that applies to charges that are wholly unsupported; or (D) that the complaint "lack[s] sufficient evidence to raise an inference that misconduct has occurred." Rules 11(c)(1)(A)–(D), Rules for Judicial-Conduct and Judicial-Disability Proceedings ("Judicial-Conduct Rules"); see 28 U.S.C. § 352(a), (b).

The subject judge presided over the complainant's underlying criminal case. The complainant alleged that the government and various witnesses had lied during the grand jury proceedings and moved to dismiss the indictment on that basis. The subject judge denied the motion.

This misconduct complaint alleges that the subject judge failed to investigate and even permitted prosecutorial misconduct. It alleges that he is "in a conspiracy" with the prosecutor to "sabotage" the complainant's case.

This complaint warrants dismissal. The allegation of conspiracy is not supported by anything other than disagreement with the subject judge's rulings. And a review of the record reveals nothing to suggest that the subject judge worked with the government to "sabotage" the complainant. The allegation of conspiracy is subject to dismissal as insufficient to raise an inference that misconduct has occurred. See 28 U.S.C. § 352(b)(1)(A)(iii); Judicial-Conduct Rule 11(c)(1)(D).

To the extent the complaint challenges the subject judge's rulings in or oversight of the underlying case, it is also dismissed. The judicial-complaint process may not be used to challenge the merits of judicial decisions made in underlying proceedings; such decisions are not the proper subject of a complaint of judicial misconduct. See Judicial-Conduct Rule 4(b)(1). The Judicial Council is not a court and has no jurisdiction to review the subject judge's rulings or to grant relief requested in the underlying case. See In re Complaint of Judicial Misconduct, 858 F.2d 331 (6th Cir. 1988). This complaint is therefore also dismissed to the extent it challenges the merits of the subject judge's decisions. See 28 U.S.C. § 352(b)(1)(A)(ii); Judicial-Conduct Rule 11(c)(1)(B).

Accordingly, it is ORDERED that the complaint be dismissed under 28 U.S.C. § 352(b)(1)(A)(ii)–(iii) and Judicial-Conduct Rules 11(c)(1)(B) and (D).
